

Hannah K. Fried

Hannah Fried is the campaign director of All Voting is Local, a collaborative campaign housed at The Leadership Conference Education Fund, in conjunction with the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation; the American Constitution Society; the Campaign Legal Center; and the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under Law. All Voting is Local fights to eliminate needless and discriminatory barriers to voting before they happen, to build a democracy that works for all of us. Since 2018, All Voting is Local has had staff on the ground in five states with a recent history of discrimination in voting: Arizona, Florida, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin.

Hannah most recently served as the National Director and Deputy General Counsel for Voter Protection on Hillary Clinton's presidential campaign. In 2012, Hannah served as the Voter Protection Director for President Obama's reelection effort in Florida, and from July 2009 to March 2012, was the Deputy Director and Deputy Counsel for Voter Protection at the Democratic National Committee. Hannah served with the Obama campaign's voter protection staff during the 2008 primaries, and joined the advance staff for the general election in June 2008.

Hannah spent several years in federal government service, at the Department of Justice and at the Environmental Protection Agency. She is a graduate of Williams College (class of 2004) and of Harvard Law School (class of 2008). She is admitted to practice law in New York.
